DESA Group Disbanding

For the past six years, it has been the honor of LCW Post to be the host meeting place of a group of Veterans — the DESA Group — for a luncheon and meeting. This was a group of Navy Veterans who served aboard Destroyer Escort Ships. Unfortunately, the group is disbanding because there are not enough members left who are able to continue to make these meetings. Following their last gathering on October 25, 2014, Mr. Francis Hugh Shovlin was kind enough to spend a few minutes in the office to talk a little about his experience on the USS Slater. Following is what he had to say:

"Being a Denver boy, growing up in the middle of the country never having seen the ocean, it was very interesting being on the ship. I enjoyed it. I couldn't have had it any better if I had a million dollars, but I wouldn't take a million dollars to do it again. I went to Glasgow, Scotland; Liverpool, England; Marseille, France; down the Suez Canal, but mostly went back and forth across the Northern Atlantic with a convoy of merchant ships. We were not the ones who captured the German U-Boat that is now in the Field Museum in Chicago, but we carried the torpedo back on the deck of our ship. It was about half again as big as the ones we carried on our ship. We only ran into convoy scares where we circled around depth charges and looked for oil slicks. During my time with the USS Slater (about one year) our convoy had three signs of possible hits where we saw oil. If a submarine was hit it never came up. My time aboard was interesting. I got to see a lot of Europe. It was boring in that we could only go as fast as the fastest merchant ship, eight or 10 miles an hour; until we would get a submarine scare, then it would get very interesting. For a period of time when we would get close to Europe there would be German aircraft and so we would have to get in the machine gun turrets and shoot at them.

"Going across the Northern Atlantic there was one time we spent three months in what they called a 'killer squadron'. A destroyer and six destroyer escorts went back and forth across the Northern Atlantic looking for German submarines. The Northern Atlantic was rough; bunks were three high and on chains. We wrapped chains around so the bunk was at an angle and we wouldn't roll out. We figured out ways to do things. The first time I boarded the USS Slater was the first time I was ever on a ship. I had the 4 to 8 a.m. watch in the engine room and it was pretty rough. When I came back up out of the engine room and went to the galley, I smelled the food then grabbed an orange and some crackers and ran up to the deck—I was seasick. One of the cooks on the ship was also seasick, a lot. He'd come running up out of the galley and over to the rail to throw up. One time he had just gotten false teeth and lost them in the ocean when he got sick. He told us if he couldn't chew meat, we weren't going to have any meat. So for about a week we didn't have any meat, not until he got a new set of dentures."

Thank you Mr. Shovlin for your service and for sharing some of your experiences with the members of LCW Post 1.

USS Slater DE 766

USS Slater is a Cannon class destroyer escort that served in the U.S.

Navy from 1943 to 1945. This vessel is the last remaining destroyer escort still afloat in the U.S. today. It was designed to combine heavy anti-submarine, anti-aircraft weapons, and the latest electronic equipment to detect enemy vessels during WWII. While in service, this ship escorted supply ships, conducted shore bombardments and served as a radar picket in both the Atlantic and Pacific Theaters.

USS Slater was deactivated in 1951 and renamed AETOS, serving in the Greek Hellenic Navy until 1991. AETOS was transferred back to the United States under the care of the Destroyer Escort Historical Museum. Under the direction of the museum, a huge restoration project began. Over the past 20 years volunteer crews have attempted to restore her to her original 1945 condition, including personal items and gear of the men and women who once served aboard her.

The ship was moved to Albany, NY, in 1997 where it still resides today. Thanks to the tireless efforts and hard work of countless volunteers and staff, her once rusted and decaying skeleton is now a living and breathing memorial to destroyer escorts. USS Slater is a National Historic Landmark and receives no regular Federal, State or local government funding. For information on guided tours, donations or more information on this vessel, please visit www.ussslater.org.

The USS Slater is now a museum ship on the Hudson River in Albany, New York, the only one of its kind afloat in the United States.

Commander's Corner

by Commander Jeff Birdwell

As we begin the new year, I hope everyone had a happy and enjoyable holiday season. I salute all the volunteers that worked hard to make the special events held at the Post an enjoyable occasion. Your participation and planning skills are what makes these events a success. As word gets out about our meeting venues and kitchen operation, many groups have expressed an interest in using our facility. As always, the priority has been and will always be accommodating Veterans and their families. Thank you for your support of Post 1. May 2015 be of great success and accomplishment for our organization.

Post 1 Oratorical Contestant Charlie Schmidt receives a check from Commander Jeff Birdwell, and Oratorical Committee Chairwoman Clotilde Szelkowski. The Oratorical contest is January 3. A report on how Charlie did at the State level will be in the next issue.

40/8 Greetings

by Ray Moreno,
40/8 Chef de Gare,

This last year for the Legion has had its share of ups and downs and 40/8 is no exception. We lost a long-time member and mentor for the 40/8, Vinton Guy. We can all be thankful for his support of the Post and we can be thankful for his contribution for a new roof.

The 40/8 thanks all the people and groups who participated this past summer in our annual BBQ for the veterans in the Fitzsimons Nursing Home. By the looks on their faces, one could tell they enjoyed us being there. They really got a kick out of the Sousa band and liked singing with them.

The 40/8 also share in the disappointment of not being able to place flags on the fallen veterans at Crown Hill Cemetery as we have done in the past. This year we hope we have more volunteers from the entire Legion family so we are able to place these flags.

We had a good turnout for our Turkey Shoot and reached the goal of $1,000 to donate to the Fisher House. Thank you to all who participated and donated to the turkey races. It seems that we all have a good time when it's all the groups sharing the work. Helping each other makes us all happier.

As members of The American Legion family, we need to remember our fellow veterans, not only on Veteran's Day but every day, by being active in our community. We need to instill pride so that what the veterans have done to protect our freedom and liberty is not forgotten. Let's continue to do what The American Legion and the 40/8 was formed to do. We need to continue to help our fellow veterans; Lord knows they are going to need us more than ever.

Hope you all have a good year in 2015.

From The 40/8 — We Reached Our Goal!!!

The weather tried to keep us down, but the generous Post 1 members and friends managed to help the 40&8 raise over $1,000 during the 2014 Turkey Shoot and Trot. Special thanks go out to Pablo Palen for running the firing line, Barb Aaker for tending the betting window, all those who assisted with the turkey races, in selling the 50/50 cards, the kitchen and any place needed. We especially want to thank all the people who donated turkeys and gifts for the event. The proceeds will go to the Fisher House. Looking forward to a good year in 2015!

Reminder To Sign In For The Daily Drawing

When signing in for the drawing write or print your first and last name as clearly as possible. Including the last four digits of your membership number will assure that we know it is your signature. If you are a new member who does not have your permanent nine-digit number yet, write new after your name. Signing in with just your first name and last name initial will not qualify.

We are so lucky and honored to have so many volunteers willing to help with spaghetti/burger nights, the holiday craft fair, planning for Girls State, planning the upcoming Mardi Gras event, receiving donations for poppies, and representing our unit at the Veterans Day parade to mention just a few occurrences.

On the same note, this year's holiday craft fair was a gigantic success and a lot of fun. Thanks to all who donated prizes, the crafters, organizers, and especially to those of you who attended. I personally had a great time and enjoyed getting a little head start shopping for Christmas presents.

Do You Remember?

HELLO, remember me? Some people call me Old Glory, others call me the Stars and Stripes. I have also been referred to as "The Star Spangled Banner." But whatever they call me . . . I am your flag, or as I proudly state, the flag of the United States of America. There is something that has been bothering me, so I thought I might talk it over with you, because it is about you and me.

I remember one time . . . it was Independence Day. People lined both sides of the street to watch the big parade. I was in the lead of course, and the high school band was right behind me. When your daddy saw me coming, waving in the breeze, he immediately removed his hat and placed it against his left shoulder, so that his hand was over his heart. Do you remember?

WELL . . . I remember you! Standing there straight and tall. You didn't have any hat, but you were giving the right salute. You were taught in school to place your hand over your heart. And little sister . . . not to be outdone, she was saluting just like you. There were some soldiers home on leave, all standing at attention giving the military salute. Ladies . . . too . . . everyone was paying me the respect that I deserve, and I was very proud to be there!

NOW if I sound conceited . . . that's because I am. I have a right to be. I represent the finest country in the world . . . the United States of America . . . More than one aggressive nation has tried to haul me down . . . but they all felt the fury of this freedom-loving country. You know . . . you had to go overseas and defend me.

WHAT happened? I am still the same old flag. Oh . . . a couple more stars now, and a lot more blood has been shed since that Independence Day so long ago. I haven't really changed.

BUT now, I don't feel as proud as I used to . . . When I come down your street, you just stand there with your hands in your pockets . . . give me a quick glance and look away. And your children . . . running around and shouting, they don't seem to know, or care, who I am. I saw one man take his hat off and then look around, he didn't see anyone with theirs off, so he quickly put his back on.

WHAT is wrong with being patriotic anymore? Have you forgotten what I stand for? Think of all the places I have been, Anzio . . . Guadalcanal . . . Korea . . . Vietnam . . . Lebanon-Granada . . . Desert Storm . . . and Afghanistan. Have you forgotten all the battlefields where men have fought and died to keep this nation free?

TAKE a look at the Memorial Honor Roll sometime, and read the names of those that never came back. Some of them were friends or relatives of yours. When you salute me . . . you are actually saluting them.

WELL, it won't be long before I'll be coming down your street again. This time when you see me . . . stand up straight . . . place your hand over your heart . . . and you will see me waving back. My salute to you. And I will know that you . . . remembered.

Flag Etiquette

Q. Is it permissible to fly the Flag of the United States during inclement weather?

A. The Flag should not be displayed on days when the weather is inclement, except when an all-weather Flag is displayed. (All-weather — nylon or other non-absorbent material).

Q. Is the Flag to be displayed only on National holidays?

A. The Code suggests displaying the Flag every day, but especially on holidays, including state holidays and during local celebrations.

Q. Is the Government required to fly the Flag every day?

A. The Code suggests the Flag be displayed daily on or near the main administration building of every public institution, in or near every polling place on election days and in or near every schoolhouse when school is in session.

Q. Is it proper to fly the Flag of the United States at night?

A. The Flag Code states that it is the universal custom to display the Flag only from sunrise to sunset on buildings and on stationary flag staffs in the open. However, when a patriotic effect is desired, the Flag may be displayed 24 hours a day if properly illuminated during the hours of darkness.

Q. What is considered proper illumination when flying the Flag at night?

A. "Proper illumination" is a light specifically placed to illuminate the Flag (preferred) or having a light source sufficient to illuminate the Flag so it is recognizable as such by the casual observer.
